

Our Process for Quality Products

Setting Up

First we work with our customer's to identify any challenges or special needs associated with each individual.

Sample Approval

Next, we'll order samples and inspect them at our vendor. After we've verified they are to the highest standard of quality, we'll send them to our customer for approval.

Quoting

Second, we sanitize drawings provided by our customers to protect their confidentiality and trade secrets. We then send them to a quality supplier with a request to quote piece price and any tooling costs associated with the project. We then sit down with our customers to work through the quote and any additional information or requests.

Production

Finally, after the sample approval, we'll begin production with our vendor. After production begins, we oversee all aspects of supply chain management. From communication with the vendor and customer to working with freight companies to bring the product to you. We also do quality checks on all production parts!